Michael Joseph Nagle (Feb. 7th)

Michael Joseph Nagle was born on November 3, 1993 and left this life on January 25, 2020. Born at Jefferson Hospital in Philadelphia, he resided in Hurffville, NJ. He attended schools in Washington Township and Mullica Hill before graduating from high school in Pitman.

The world is full of wonder and Michael Joseph Nagle embodied the traits of curiosity and generosity throughout his life. We tell of several episodes of his story here.

As an infant, he was full of life and full of spirit and laughter and his cherubic face would ponder the faces of those around him and their puzzled reactions to his forceful glare would eventually give way to his welcoming, infectious grin; he stole a lot of hearts.

Before four years of age, Michael used to love to go up to people and ask them for the change in their pockets. He would then proceed to count it in mere seconds and announce the total before securing the coins in his own pockets. Folks would look at Michael with amazement at his ability to reach the correct figure as well as admiration for his innocent financial endeavors.

Michael's leadership instincts are prime examples of his independent, unwavering spirit when his determination paved a particular path. For instance, when he attended a new school in the sixth grade, the administration sought support from his mother in asking Michael to persuade his classmates to show kindness to a new substitute teacher even though he was the new kid with, as he described it, "only five new friends." Later that Fall, he won "Best Costume" at Halloween for his simplistic appearance as himself with a black line drawn on his forehead indicating his comfort with being himself.

In later school years, he reveled in the art of drama and the contact sport of wrestling – both a testament to his expressive, inquisitive character and unrelenting physical zeal. Through his step-father, Ralph whom he lovingly called Fahjah, he became interested in body building and they spent countless hours sharing weight training. Michael became a personal trainer in 2016 and relentlessly continued this pursuit. Competing in his last scheduled body building competition was interrupted as a result of an injury sustained when he was generously helping us after our home flooded and a contractor hit him with a construction vehicle, thus, hurting his competitive chances. Michael's sense of style and appearance is evident through his body building efforts as well as his exquisite body art which was the handiwork of his brother and great tattoo artist, Matthew Nagle. Michael also attended the Robert Fiance Beauty School where mentors Miss Lisa Alexander and Miss Mary Czuda encouraged him to complete his schooling and consider eventually teaching this craft.

This last summer Michael worked for Easy Protection Insurance with his mother and Fahjah and took an active role in their non-profit, Finance Expense Planning Specialist Association. With his father's encouragement, he also became a Realtor this past December.

Throughout all these achievements, there were challenges in Michael's life and many times he faced them head on and with resilience. We won't know the struggles to which he succumbed but trust that the Lord's path has led him to his eternal home to be reunited with us one day.

Those of us here left to behold his memory include his mother Annemarie Polsenberg Wileczek and his stepfather, Ralph Wileczek; his father, James J Nagle and his loving brother Justin Matthew Nagle along with his niece and nephew, Jacquie and William Wileczek; two beautiful cousins, Melissa Polsenberg Chytry and Amy Polsenberg; three little brother cousins, Devin, Daniel and Dylan Kriess; and Godparents Daniel Polsenberg and Lynne Wiegand Trench.
